Rebuilding Lives Campaign Impact

Having our first permanent home has made an incredible difference in how we help refugee families become generationally successful. Hear about the impact of your generosity in the words below of our front-line staff.

The new building has enabled my team to work more efficiently. Being able to have our own space for the youth program has drastically reduced the number of interruptions throughout the day which has increased our team's ability to focus and improved productivity. I have definitely seen an increase in staff morale as well! This wonderful new space has made a significant difference in enabling our staff to better and more efficiently serve the refugee community in Nashville.

-- Abby Mosby, Director of Youth Success

Having a spacious office has made our job very much easier. We don't have to worry about refugees feeling uncomfortable to share their personal secrets with other people in the room who may or may not be concerned by the issue. Having a permanent address made a huge difference. We can now share our location and not worry about people finding us. The ability to seat two different families and a little waiting area is a big asset.

-- Viateur Sibomana, Job Coach

I was only in the old space for about 8 months before the renovations started but I have already noticed such a huge difference! It has opened up so much more space for us to do things for our program. During Christmas time we were able to keep all of the Christmas gifts for 103 children organized and stored to where it was a much more streamlined process than it was last year.

-- Emma Fleet, Assistant Director of Youth Success

Refugees have somewhere to get help. That's what I think about Nations Ministry's newly renovated offices at 406 Welshwood Dr. Because of the purchase and improvements to this property, we as staff now have dedicated space to meet with and work for refugees. We now have a furnished classroom with the necessary resources to teach citizenship. Nations Ministry more than ever feels like a welcoming place, dedicated to our mission of serving refugees.

-- Dan Naes, Job Coach
